LOCAL BREVITIES.

Autumn Festival October 27th.
The chrysanthemums should be here.

Hay rides seem to be very popular these days.

The first ice of the season last Sunday morning.

We must have better train service at this station.

And still there is a demand for dwelling houses in Ironton.

The Guild of St. Paul's will meet at Mrs. Ringo's this afternoon.

There are no night passenger trains on the branch since the new time-card went into effect.

A great many of our exchanges throughout the Southeast are telling of October strawberries.

Rev. D. S. Tuttle will hold services in St. Paul's church, Ironton, on Sunday, November 15th.

Poplar Bluff has free mail delivery after November 1st and seems to be very proud of the fact.

Eight or ten of our nimrods were out driving deer one day last week but they failed to get a single shot.

Circuit court convenes next Monday. The docket is printed this week and is somewhat larger than usual.

Mrs. Nancy Moon, aged about seventy-five years, died at her home in Pilot Knob last Thursday after a long illness.

Lopez's millinery department this season is most complete. Ladies in search of anything new and novel should call.

Do not forget the Autumn Festival at the Academy of Music next Tuesday night. It is going to be the affair of the season.

The City Collector is waiting for you to call on him. Remember it is not many weeks now before city taxes become delinquent.

FOUND.—In front of Lopez's store on Tuesday, October 20th, a lady's jacket. Owner can have same by proving property and paying for this advertisement.

MARRIED.—At Ironton, Missouri, Wednesday, Oct. 21, 1903, by W. G. Fairchild, J. P., Loranzy D. Miner and Nancy Wickes, both of Washington county, Mo.

C. C. Farmer brought some very fine specimens of yellow corn to this office Wednesday. The corn was grown on the farm of J. D. Stephens near Caledonia.

To our very good friend, Herman Kretschmar of St. Louis we are indebted for a bottle of "extra dry." Mr. Kretschmar is sojourning at Eureka Springs for a short time.

J. P. Gillam this week brought to the REGISTER office some very fine large peach-blow potatoes. Just twenty-seven of these potatoes, Mr. Gillam says, made a bushel.

Ludwig Reichert has just moved into his commodious and handsome new home, just completed, on the Hinchey place, south of Arcadia, which he purchased about a year ago.

The man in the moon lay dreaming, that he was wandering in shady dale, when the cow made a jump, that made the moon hump, and woke the old man with the sound of her bell.

We hope to see great interest manifested in the Corn show to be held in Ironton on November 2d. Every farmer in the county should try and make an exhibit. Let Iron county do her best.

Recorder Hawkins granted marriage licenses this week to George Robison, of St. Francois county, Mo., and Perrie Dunn, Annapolis, Mo., and L. D. Miner and Nancy Wickes—both of Washington county, Mo.

Mrs. Blemel had a party Monday evening. A number of friends were present and the hours passed most delightfully. Everybody had a good time, and the assembled guests wished the hostess many happy returns.

We were mistaken last week in saying that Mr. and Mrs. Aug. Schwab would live with Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Gay. They will occupy the residence just west of the Gay residence, at present used by Mr. Hummell and family.

A through freight ran into the local at Iron Mountain last Friday evening and considerable damage resulted. A fireman and engineer were quite badly hurt and several cars demolished. The track was blocked for several hours in consequence.

I like to hear the bells ringing on Christmas and Easter morn; I like to hear the school bell, the dinner bell or horn; but there is one thing I do not like—it almost makes me weep—is the ding-dong knell of that old cow bell, when I want to go to sleep.

There were a dozen or more passengers for the Valley on No. 1 which owing to the wreck at Iron Mountain last Friday evening went down the branch instead of on the Main line. The Valley passengers rode to Iron Mountain on the wreck and were driven from Iron Mountain here.

Geo. Stricklin, who lives in the west end of the county, went to Flat River about two weeks ago to dispose of a wagon load of chickens. He sold his chickens all right but some one stole his horses. The missing animals were located at Caledonia several days later.

News reached here, this week, of the marriage, about two weeks ago, of Mrs. Hettie Langdon Jones to Arthur Shade, of St. Louis. The lady was born and raised in this county and lived here until about five years ago. Mr. Shade is connected with a wholesale shoe house of St. Louis.—Dunklin Democrat.

W. H. Thomas, who has been conducting a general merchandise business on the corner south of the REGISTER office for the past eight months, made an assignment for the benefit of his creditors last Thursday James H. Clark is in charge of the stock. The liabilities are said to be in the neighborhood of $1200. What the assets are have not yet been determined.

How dear to my heart is the old yellow pumpkin, when orchards are barren of stuff for pies; when peaches and apples have been a failure, and berries of no kind have greeted the eyes; how fondly we turn to the fruit that our children are taught to despise—the old yellow pumpkin, the big belled pumpkin, the mud-covered pumpkin that makes such good pies.—Ez.

The commissioners appointed to assess damages for property owners on the right-of-way of the proposed railroad from Middlebrook to Sheahan's quarry, held a meeting Monday and assessed damages as follows: Syenite Granite Co., $118; Iron Mountain Co., $37; Chas. Orrick, $10; Thomas Hill, $125; Warren C. Johnson, $15.75; Elizabeth Waldron, $82.50. Total, $388.25.

Chas. J. Newman was with home folks Saturday and Sunday returning to St. Louis Sunday evening. Charley is now with the O. J. Gude Co., one of the largest advertising concerns in the country, and during the fifteen months that he has been absent from home has visited most of the larger towns in New England and the east. He will be employed for some weeks in the St. Louis neighborhood and expects to pay frequent visits home.

It seems to be well understood that the liberal advertiser gives the best bargains, as he is not close, and some people claim that the best advertiser is generally the best business man and the most liberal to trade with. If you want bargains and liberal treatment, you should always trade with a liberal advertiser. Money spent in judicious advertising in a paper that goes into the homes is always well invested, as successful merchants readily testify. Close-fisted men seldom advertise, and also seldom give bargains, as the saying goes. Keep your eye on the advertising columns of your home paper. It pays to read them. Keep posted as to bargain places as well as news.—Ez.

The Fort Scott Daily Tribune pays the following compliment to one late a resident of Ironton: "C. A. Byers, who recently gave up the newspaper business to do magazine work, is one of the promising young writers of this country. In a recent issue of the "Sunny South" a magazine published at Atlanta, Ga., Mr. Byers had a prize winning story. There were a number of contestants, among them being the best writers in the United States. Mr. Byers was seventh in the list of prize winners and he was given a cash prize. This speaks well of the young writer and marks him as one of the best of Kansas productions. Mr. Byers was formerly in the newspaper business in Missouri but about six months ago he disposed of his interests there and came here to do magazine work for the McClure syndicate."

While coming from his home in Russellville to Ironton last Friday evening about dark Mr. W. H. Delano had rather an unusual experience. He was approaching the railroad bridge when he saw something white fall to the ground a few feet in front of him. It was too dark to distinguish what the object was at a distance; he at first thought it was a piece of paper. As he drew near, however, he discovered that, whatever it was, it was alive and kicking. Just a little bit startled, but determined to gratify his curiosity he advanced and what do you suppose he found?—a wild duck lying there on its back, apparently stunned, but using its wings and feet vigorously. Mr. Delano was puzzling his mind as to how the duck got there when some one up on the bridge told him that the fowl had flown against the telegraph wires and fallen to the ground.

The new time card went into effect Sunday. The passenger service afforded at this station is No. 1 which goes south at 5:30 o'clock

P. M., and No. 9 going south a few minutes after midnight. Our north-bound trains are No. 10 at 3:57 A. M., and No. 8 at 4:47 P. M. That is all the service we have. If you can't get away at four o'clock in the morning going north you have to wait until 4:43 in the afternoon. Under the new schedule there is a passenger train through here north (but does not stop at this station) at 8:42 and one south (that does not stop) at 11:31 A. M. These trains should stop at Ironton and then our service would be all that we could ask. Our people should at once make a move and endeavor to have this station made a stopping point for these trains. We need them badly, and can't help but think if the matter was promptly represented to the railroad authorities something might be accomplished.

DIED.—At the residence of W. H. Byers in Ironton, Mo., at 7:30 o'clock, Thursday evening, Oct. 15, 1903, Mrs. M. A. Taylor, aged 83 years and eight months. The deceased was the relict of the late David L. Taylor, to whom she was married 61 years ago. Of this union four children were born, Thobe, William, Margaret and Mary A., the latter the late wife of Wm. H. Byers of this city. Mrs. Taylor was born and reared in Burks county, Penn., but many years ago came west, where she continuously resided until her death. She was of the Van Zant family whose ancestors were away the first settlers of New York city. The deceased had not been in good health for some time and the announcement of her death was no surprise. Mrs. Taylor had lived in Ironton many years, making her home with her son-in-law, Capt. Byers. She was a good, true woman and her relatives and friends will long revere her memory. The funeral occurred from the residence Saturday afternoon, Rev. Triplett of Fort Hill Church conducting the services and the remains were interred in the Masonic cemetery. May she rest in peace!

Last Wednesday evening "The Budweisers" went over to the Arcadia College to pay their respects to Fathers Wernert and Huber and also to contribute as best they might to the pleasure of the pupils in attendance at the school. First we were shown through the newly built residence of the Fathers, a large and elegantly furnished structure, with all the latest conveniences and comforts attaching to a well ordered establishment. Then we were taken to the recreation hall of the College, whose ample dimensions were filled with youth and beauty—with the girlish forms and bright faces we all love to look upon—with early aspirations and buoyant hopes with the sweetness and grace that gentleness and innocence bless and crown as with a halo. After a few renditions by the orchestra, and some very fine selections, vocal and instrumental, by the young ladies, the hall, at the word given, was cleared of its chairs as if by magic, and "the dance was on." Enjoyment was upon every face, and rang out o'er the room the silvery sounds of laughter light. Feet twinkled and the flush of quickened pulse gave another beauty to dimpled cheek. God bless them all! I would, if I could, give to each and every one youth and happiness perpetual. Too soon, alas! for the bounding spirits which kept time to music's beat, the hour for their retirement came. Reluctantly—for the players had their enjoyment, too, in the pleasure of the dancers—we put up our instruments, bade all "Good-night!" and left the hall, and silence and darkness succeeded the cheer of light and the bustle of life. With a short but very enjoyable hour at the rooms of the Fathers, "The Budweisers" returned to their homes after as pleasant an evening as one may hope to know in this "vale of tears."

To the Clergy—Prison Sunday, October 25th.

The members of the State Board of Charities and Corrections are conscious of the fact that they are dependent upon the Christian sentiment of the State for support in the great work in which they are engaged. That the criminal class is increasing at an alarming rate is apparent to all who have given any thought to the subject. The question shall we try to reform the criminals, or confine them permanently, is a serious one. Our people need information along these lines, and we know of no means so effective for disseminating it as through the pulpits of the State. We appeal to the clergy for help in this great work.

Actuated by this motive, the State Board of Charities and Corrections have set apart the fourth Sunday in October as "Prison Sunday." Every pastor in the State is urgently requested to preach a sermon on that day on some phase of the "prison question."

Our stock of shoes, all sizes, are No. 1 and price low.

Card of Thanks.

We take this opportunity of offering our sincere thanks to the many friends who helped us in our late bereavement, during the illness of the late Mrs. M. A. Taylor, and after her demise.

Making Monster Missouri Map.

Prof. C. F. Marbut, of the University of Missouri, is at work in Columbia on a map of Missouri far larger than any map of Missouri ever made before. The map, when completed, will require a frame a little larger than fifteen feet by twelve feet. It will be made of paper mache and will weigh several hundred pounds. A plaster cast of the map will weigh over three tons.

This map is being made for the Missouri World's Fair Commission and will form part of the Missouri exhibit at the St. Louis World's Fair. Several casts will be made of it and will be exhibited in the different departments of the fair.

The map will be made a miniature Missouri. It will be in relief and the hills and valleys on the map will be actual miniature copies of the originals. Every stream of any size in the State will be shown as well as every post-office, railroad or wagon road. It will be so complete and accurate in detail that the farmer visiting the fair will be able to find on the map the location of his farm. The data used in the map has been acquired from various sources. The United States Geological surveys and Mr. Marbut's private surveys as well as data he has secured in the name of the State University have all been used, but Prof. Marbut has found all these to be incomplete and he has spent the greater part of the summer traveling over the State collecting data.

Come and see our stock of facinators and shawls. Prices very reasonable. H. BARNHOUSE.

Obituary.

Died at her home near Graniteville, on Oct. 7, 1903, little Celia Thomas, daughter of Moses and Annie Thomas, aged one year, three weeks and three days. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Latour, after which the little body was laid to rest in the home cemetery near by.

She was sick nine weeks, during which time her suffering was great, but with patience she bore it to the last without a frown, and always had a welcome smile on her bright, cheerful face. But we know the Lord said, "suffer little children to come unto me, and forbid them not, for such is the kingdom of heaven." Though the home is desolate and lonely because of her absence, heaven is richer by her presence, and we have the glorious consolation that if we steadfastly look to Christ we shall grasp her on a brighter shore than this. Although the sweet spirit that shone in the lustre of her eyes, that radiated in the smile that brightened her face, and rang in the childish voice so full of music to father and mother, has flown to brighter realms; when the cup of sorrow is thus pressed to our lips; when the joy and light is gone out of home, it requires all our faith and trust to say: "It is well; Thy will be done." We would pray, O Heavenly Father, if it be possible, let this cup pass from us." But He who suffered for all, left a glorious, consoling promise, that beyond the sorrowful separation here there shall be a happy reunion, in which the loved ones shall once more be pressed to our bosoms; the tears that now bedim our eyes will be tears formed into pearls of joy, and all our heaviness of heart shall be lifted as the stone from the tomb of Him who won victory o'er death and grave.
